Dear Chris, Heather and Patrick,

Thank-you again for your time and enthusiasm during Tuesday evening's event.

27 members from Clevedon Wildfowling Association came to listen. The feedback from everyone has been really positive. Over half of our membership were present, including a good number of junior guns, all of whom found the session informative and who enjoyed themselves.

Patrick's presentation recognizing wildfowling as a genuine contender for inclusion within UNESCO's convention on Intangible Cultural Heritage was enthralling. His insight identified some deeply felt beliefs, mirrored by some of our members, in a way that many of us may not have been able to articulate as effectively. As a non-shooter, his appreciation for what we do as custodians of our environment was refreshing and we're sure he will be a positive force in educating the ambivalent into what, how and, perhaps more importantly, why we do what we do.

Clevedon Wildfowling Association has a long tradition of conservation. Patrick's informative session will help us to better communicate the positive impact that we, as a wildfowling club, have on our local environment for the betterment of everyone.

Heathers works on wing identification was insightful. The quiz was an eye opener and surprisingly hard! But a lot of fun. Something for us all to go forward and work on. We all now hold a better understanding of the importance of the wing survey and how the data is used to defend what we enjoy so much. As always, we're grateful to BASC for their continued support and we look forward to welcoming you all back to our club in the near future.

Yours sincerely,

Clevedon Wildfowling Association
